REVEILLE

Published by the CLASS OF JANUARY, 1942

Bloomfield High School
Bloomfield, New Jersey

Foreword

THE bugles of Democracy are summoning the youth of America to the struggles and crises which lie ahead. Reveille has sounded, calling us, as young men and young women, to take our places in the life of America. Awakened to our responsibilities, aroused by the urgency of the call, we regretfully leave our high school days behind us and boldly step forward to accept the challenge of the Spirit of '42.

To us is entrusted our sacred heritage wrought by stout-hearted men, far-sighted women. Our education, our personal freedom, our unlimited opportunities—in short, everything we now are or hope to become, we owe to the ideals, faith and hopes of democracy.

Shall these perish from the earth? From the Spirit of '76 comes our inspiration! Our Reveille has sounded. We must answer its call!

•REVEILLE•

IRENE KIEWRA

In a quiet and gracious manner Irene philosophizes and this is the result. "If you do it now, you won't have to do it later." "Our Town"

EMILY WEBB (Marjorie Garniss) and George Gibbs (Edward McGrath) making love on stepladders, Howie Newsome (David Andrews) leading a horse (?), Mrs. Gibbs (Virginia Cary) frying an egg in a frying pan (?). These are a few of the scenes from "Our Town" which we presented on March 28 and 29, 1941 under the supervision of A. Dixi Crosby.

We shall always remember the hilarious time we had at rehearsals. Whenever we were in a somber mood, Elizabeth Anderson (Mrs. Webb) kept us in stitches by telling about her Norman and Jack. Oh, my! Why was it that everybody always wanted to practice the wedding scene? Billy Sylernal (Editor Webb) acted just like a nervous father when, in the wedding scene, he marched down the aisle with Margie, his daughter. He never kept in time with the music; instead he'd jerk his tie, push back his hair. Eddie was a typical bridegroom. As he stood nervously at the left of the altar waiting for his bride, we expected him to seek the nearest exit any minute. This was the best scene in "Our Town", even without scenery. A stained glass church window was projected on a screen. When the first stirring strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March" seeped from an old organ and Margie walked down the aisle with Billy, tears rolled down our cheeks. It couldn't have been more realistic in a real church.

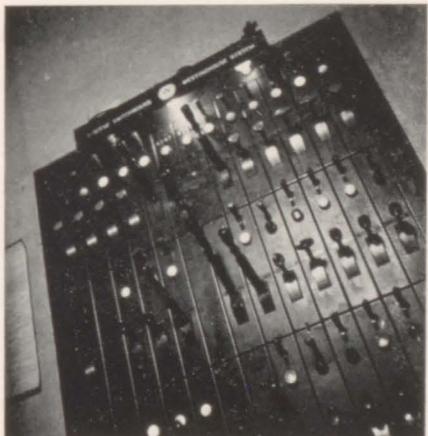

Margie lived and died the role of Emily Webb. She went over and over her lines while she ate and while she slept. (That is, except when she wrote her "What Uncle Sam Means to Me" essay. Remember? She won the first prize.) Eddie, as the youthful lover was better than William Holden who had the same part in the movie. He showed no signs of self-consciousness; instead, he was his own natural boyish self. The Who-o-o-s still ring in our ears from the grammar school matinee. Each time there was a kissing scene, the kids jumped up from their seats and whooped like a bunch of wild Indians. At the end of the second act, they ran out. (They thought it was over). We brought them back. After the third act some of the little girls came back stage to see Margie. "You're beautiful! You're wonderful!" were some of the frank remarks. (We noticed they looked around. For Eddie?)

March 28, 1941. The first act was a great success. Everybody complimented the show. The second act was almost over. Emily stood at the front of the stage (this was the wedding scene) when - - -. What happened? Oh! Oh! her veil fell off. Miss Terhune gallantly arose from her seat and adjusted the veil. Thank you, Miss Terhune! Everybody laughed and applauded her; then settled down again.

March 29, 1941. During the scene in the aisle, Emily told George she loved him; then George took her in his arms and—well, what's the natural thing to do? Guess who, should be sitting within arms reach of the couple? Mr. Haupin! The following Monday he calmly remarked, "McGrath, I enjoyed your show very much."

LeRoy Newell (the Stage Manager) deserves much credit along with Dick Price (Mr. Gibbs). It was LeRoy who introduced each act, and who made those delicious looking ice-cream sodas without ice-cream, seltzer-water, or glasses. His natural New England twang made him perfect for this part. He had to learn three pages of dialect. for each act. Dick Price, stuffed with pillows and puffing peacefully on his corncob pipe, had to learn to speak with an elderly drawl.

Behind the scenes were two student coaches, Doris Kelly and Lucille Long, who did everything from imitating roosters to aiding Elizabeth Anderson in her pantomimes. Art Nichols, with his assistants in charge of the lighting effects, never failed to do the right things. Morris Curren, property manager, managed the trellises and sound effects. Jeanne Quick as business manager; Andrew Lyon, Betty Post, ticket chairmen; Paul Dalley, publicity chairman; Gloria Vigeant, Jane Van Winkle, Ruth Kurner, Josephine Dooley, head ushers, all contributed to the success of "Our Town".

Class History

FOUR years ago the corridors of B. H. S. resounded with the footsteps of an eager, but half frightened crowd of "Uneducated Freshmen". Of course we met with opposition (those big Seniors) at every step, but soon our merry bunch proved that we were not to be dealt with mildly, or taken lightly.

In '37 we flashy Seniors were timid, struggling Freshmen. But even though we were credulous and very gullible, that didn't keep us out of print. Under the able direction of Mrs. Conroy and Mr. Hale, we elected Lucille Long as our president. Lucille has something that even F. D. R. has not got. Our first dance was held March, 1937. We'll never forget some of those memories. Then came our annual magazine drive and Anita Warner and Melville Beck topped the list. They've been going great ever since.

Time Marches On! We have now become Superior Sophomores. "Top o' the World" was made a success by all males in town coming to see Jeanne Quick, Ruth Tietz, Virginia Greenwood, Barbara Stebbins and Joyce Koehler take the part of models. Our talented golfer, Catherine Fox, took second place in the Metropolitan Junior Girls' Tournament. All the boys helped her celebrate. Three of our members, Muriel Ulrich, Virginia Greenwood, and Barbara Stebbins, helped our famous Girls' Archery Team defeat the best of Tokio, Japan. The first student member of the Bloomfield Safety Council was our own Paul Dalley. Following the footsteps of our president, F. D. R., Lucille Long was elected for a second term. Our own little Anita Warner topped the magazine drive for the second year.

Tempus Fidgets! Finally we have become high and mighty Upper Classmen. Second place in the New Jersey State Mail Archery Tournament was taken by Jean Rowe. We're still wondering what Jean was doing in a "Mail" contest. The Student Prints got a first class fashion expert when it picked Ruth Mason. Andrea Chalmers, after only one half year, became the recording secretary of the Sphinx Club. F. D. R. had better look to his laurels for Lucille Long was elected president for the third term. Jack Howard, in accordance with the B. H. S. record of turning out good pivotmen, became the center on our better-than-average football team. The whole school became excited when it was announced Lucille Long was heading a committee to plan the Prom.

The eventful year of '41 has arrived. Our little heroes have now become big heroes. The new golf team was formed through the efforts of Catherine Fox. The high tradition of our archery team was upheld by Muriel Ulrich, Barbara Stebbins, and Jean Rowe who have won so many honors we've lost count of them. Ed McGrath started in as a cub reported on the Student Prints and is now the editor. When the Honor Society was formed, we had our share of members in Doris Fuess, Lucille Long, Andrew Lyon, Dorabelle Marger, Matilda Rodes, and Kathryn Thomas. The class unanimously chose Lucille Long as president for the fourth term. (She is one up on F. D. R.). Ed McGrath entered into the kissing scene with Marjorie Garniss in "Our Town" with such vim that they had to put a three minute time limit on him.

With the arrival of '42, all clubs will lose some of their most valuable and outstanding members. Through the years the class of '42 has made remarkable progress, mentally, physically, and socially for which achievements our teachers deserve a great deal of credit.

Football

Football in Bloomfield High School has been the major sport for almost as long as the school itself has been standing.

Bloomfield teams have been known for their spirit and hard-fighting ways. The Bengals in recent years have not given B. H. S. any championships, but have held the school in the spotlight with their playing.

This year (1941) the team has been rated high in the state standing; and although having a light team, the Bengal squad has had its victories along with its defeats.

Graduation will take the entire varsity line from the picture, but there are many sophomore reserves who will be in there next fall.

The year before we entered B. H. S. (1938), the Bengals had just won their fourth straight state championship; and after winning five straight contests to open the 1938 season, the Boilermakers of Garfield upset the Bengal eleven. Since that time, the Bloomfield gridsters have yet to beat Garfield.

The B. H. S. teams have steadily improved in the last four years and seem to be headed for state championships in the future years. Coach Foley has been developing sophomore players to take over the duties left by the graduation of varsity material.

Probably the most thrilling contest each year is the traditional game with the Montclair team. Thanksgiving Day finds both teams in excellent condition to decide which is the better team. Tradition has kept the rivalry between these two teams for twenty-three years.

As alumni of B. H. S., we will want to see the Bengals at the top of the ladder in years to come.

Basketball

Bengal basketball teams have gained recognition throughout the state by producing squads equal to the task of reaching the playoffs.

The B. H. S. cagesters are known by their towering height. Rarely is a man under six feet seen on the floor, but Hugh McCullough, last year's captain, is an exception. Hugh, smaller than the rest, proved to be a valuable player and high scorer.

In the playoffs, Hugh led the basketeers to an over time victory over a stubborn Central High team.

With all of last year's varsity gone, Coach Foley had to form a complete new squad from the sophomore and junior members of the team.

Baseball

Baseball has taken its place in the spotlight during our four years' stay in B. H. S.

There have been no shining stars in this time, such as Hank Borowy and Stan Krivick, but the team has held its own against its opposition and has given its share of thrills.

The 1942 season will find the Bengal team and men minus a really good pitcher—Gordon Stevenson, last season's star. He has graduated and left his post vacant. Coach Foley will have to find in the groups of sophomores a pitcher who will be able to carry the burden of leading the Bengals to victory.

Track

Looking ahead to the coming track season, the Bengal cindermen will be minus a few lettermen through graduation and injuries sustained in football.

Although this picture looks rather discouraging, there are many bright spots. Mr. S. C. Woolley, track coach, spent much of his time last spring (1941) developing the younger members of the squad. From these fellows he hopes to garner a team that will carry the Red and Gray to a successful season.

During the last few years in B. H. S., track has become more popular than ever. It is now a major sport and a special track has been built at Foley Field to accommodate the tracksters.

Golf

Started four years ago as a club, the members of the golf team first started competition against each other.

Nothing was thought of this club as it matched its members to battle one another, but the club began to grow in size and was soon competing with teams from other schools.

Two years after it had been started, the club was made a team by the Athletic Association. Regular schedules were arranged and since then the team has carried the Red and Gray to many victories.

Coach Mr. A. Bauer

Tennis

Four years of racket-wielding have not shown any outstanding playing or players on the Bengal Tennis Team.

The Tennis Team, since its admittance to the A. A. as a minor sport, has never produced a really good team; that is, a team good enough to carry the laurels of B. H. S. to the top. In these last four years, the team has yet to win more than half of the tilts on its season's schedule. Although not many of the students have come out for the team, it is the hope of former members that the tennis team will soon come into its own.

Coach Mr. C. Kendall

Swimming

Followers of the Bengal tankmen agree heartily that the Swimming Team, improving all the time, has come into its own through the years.

This season finds the tanksters under a new coach, Mr. W. Christian, and marks the first time in years that the squad will be receiving the guidance of a high school teacher. Heretofore, the coaching was left to the members of the team and an instructor at the Y. M. C. A. in Montclair.

The majority of boys trying their fins against opposing high schools will be sophomores and juniors. Graduation will lessen the strength of the team considerably, by taking several lettermen from the squad in the middle of the season.

Fencing

Fencing, although not a very popular sport, has gained attention from the Bloomfield High student body in recent years.

Bengal fencers have been striving to build a team, capable of winning a majority of contests. In the last four years, the team has been able to do this by winning more than fifty per cent of its tilts. They diligently practice each day and have rounded out a fine team.

Coach Mr. G. Madden

Girls' Basketball

Although the senior girls' interclass basketball team might not do very well against a team of boys, they have been quite successful with competitive girls' teams. Last year by losing one game—and losing that by only two points—the girls lost the championship. The members of the winning team were given silver basketballs and our members, medals. In former years the girls always played three court basketball, but this year, they have adopted the newer form of two court. The Senior A Team consisted of Barbara Stebbins, Virginia Greenwood, Jean Rowe and Doris Fuess as forwards, with Peggy Sherlock, Muriel Ulrich and Lucille Long as guards.

Senior Gym Team

To be on the High School Senior Gym Team is quite an honor for a girl in B. H. S. Every Thursday afternoon, you will find the gymnasium filled with Senior Gym Team Girls, in their red and gray suits, working on the apparatus. Some of the girls perform remarkably well on the rings and parallel bars. Every year, in June, the Senior Gym Team has a Mother-Daughter Banquet. The fathers and friends are welcome to the exhibition after in the gymnasium.

ARCHERY

TOP ROW: Virginia Greenwood, Manager Muriel Ulrich, Jean Rowe, Captain Shirley Renard, Eleanor Saul, Lelia Saul, Jean Harrison.
MIDDLE ROW: Junellen Hawthorne, Alice Wyker, Peggy Banks, Claire Steiger, Doris Cady, Nancy Richmond, Barbara Stebbins, Wilma Haacke, Patty White, Annabelle Schenk, Barbara Bloch.

Girls' Archery

They have done it again! The B. H. S. girl archers have conquered another title and another trophy to be placed in the school show case. This time it is the National High School Championship. We think it is quite an honor for one school to hold the New Jersey State High School title (Indoors and Outdoors), the Metropolitan High School title (Junior and Intermediate), and last, but not least, now, the National High School Championship, for the second time.

Beside the team laurels, there are individual places held by some of the girls. During the year, the archery team gave tournaments in the Girls' Gymnasium and invited other high school archers from neighboring towns to compete. These archers really have gala affairs! Although Virginia Greenwood, Jean Rowe, Barbara Stebbins, and Muriel Ulrich are graduating, at least one of them always managed to place first, second or third in the tournaments they entered.

Just as in any other sport, the girls practice continually in order to get on top. Two afternoons a week the girls devote to shooting under the expert coaching of Miss Russell, a skillful archer herself. The excellent equipment supplied the girls by the Athletic Association, has helped them considerably in their accuracy.

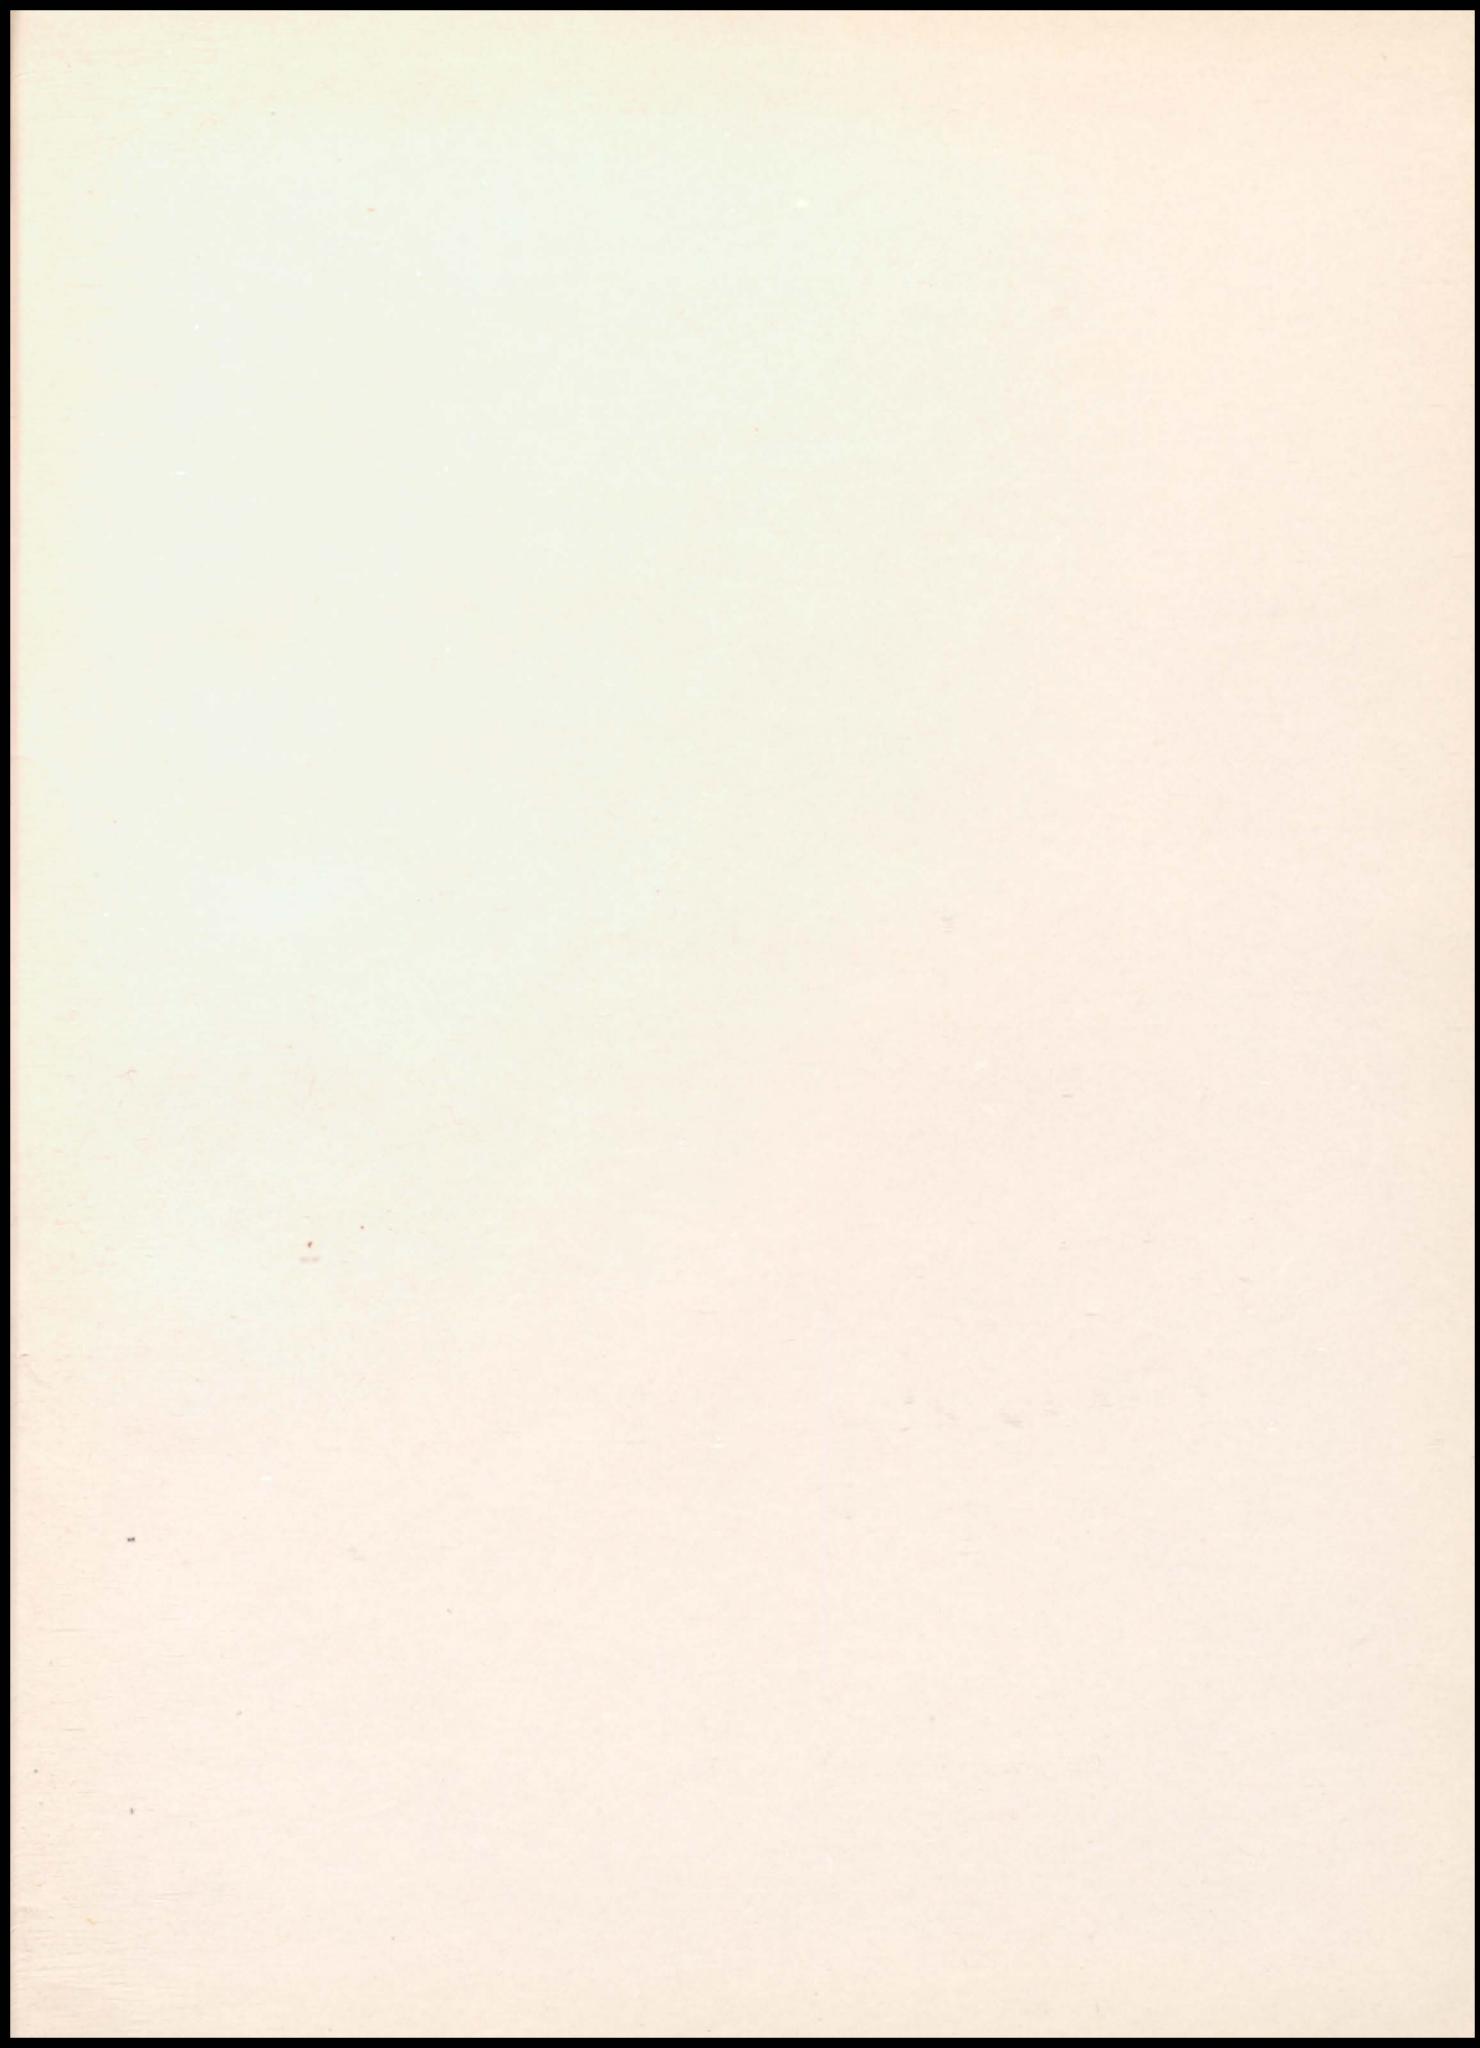

A new captain and manager is chosen for the team each year. Jean Rowe proved to be a capable captain. After graduation, when the four seniors, Virginia, Jean, Barbara, and Muriel leave, there will still be twenty-four girls on the archery team to carry on and win more titles and trophies.
